Abstract. The "Chinese Solution" came from the historical foundation of the Chinese nation's great rejuvenation toward the future. It comes from the scientific method of combining theory with practice. It comes from the intrinsic demands of contributing to the Chinese values for the world. From the history and the future, the theory and practice, China and the world three dimensions for the "China program" provides a solid basis. Based on the nature of China's program theory, this article focuses on exploring the theoretical origins, theoretical structure and the value of the times in Chinese programs.

Introduction

Xi Jinping pointed out in his 19-nation report: "The continuous development of the road, theory, system and culture of socialism with Chinese characteristics has broadened the way for developing countries to move toward modernization. It has given all the people in the world who hope to speed up development and hope to maintain their independence. Countries and nations have provided new choices and contributed Chinese wisdom and Chinese solution to human problems. "The" Chinese Plan "is a universal law based on the path of China's development and successful practices. It reflects that the experience of developing countries is a manifestation of China's active participation in the evolution of globalization and the global governance model. The "Chinese Program" sets out Chinese position, attitude and solution to these problems on the universality issues in world development. The theoretical nature and contemporary value of studying China's programs have an important value and significance for systematic understanding of Chinese programs.

Organization of the Text

Theoretical Origin of "Chinese Program"

Marxist Philosophy is the Source of "Chinese Plan" Theory. Marxism is the theoretical basis put forward by Chinese proposal. The Chinese program stems from the guiding ideology of upholding Marxism, adheres to dialectical materialism and historical materialism, and upholds a scientific world outlook and methodology. The most prominent feature of Marxist philosophy is its practicality. The Chinese program also embodies this feature. The trend of the peaceful development of globalization decides that all countries in the world should pursue common values. The emergence of Chinese program conforms to the objective law of economic and social development and complies with the trend of development of the times. It is precisely the social existence in Marxist theory that determines social awareness Specific embodiment. As the ties between countries in the world are getting closer and closer, conflicts and conflicts will inevitably arise because of the interests of our country. Existing conflicts between countries will be resolved and new contradictions will follow. The Chinese proposal precisely uses the dialectical thinking of Marxist theory of contradiction and upholds the principle of seeking common ground while shelving differences and mutual benefit and win-win solutions, and actively explores the ways and means for a reasonable solution to the world's problems. Marxism pursues the establishment of a free and all-round development society. As human history has developed as the globalization progresses, the voice of gradually establishing a community of human destinies becomes more and more intense. The guiding ideology of Marxism will continue to guide the sound development of human society. It is precisely because Chinese plan is supported by the concept of the community of destiny and unifies the consensus of the people in the world.

The Socialist System with Chinese Characteristics is the Foundation of the "Chinese Proposal" Theory. Through the constant examination of history and people, the Chinese Communist Party has adhered to the historical and logical internal unity of the basic principles of scientific socialism and the practice of socialism with Chinese characteristics and has formulated and developed the theoretical system of socialism with Chinese characteristics in practice. From Deng Xiaoping Theory to the important thought of "Three Represents" to the scientific development concept, the content of the theory of socialism with Chinese characteristics is constantly enriched and innovated, deepening and perfecting constantly. Since the Third Plenary Session of the 18th CPC Central Committee, the CPC Central Committee with General Secretary Xi Jinping as its core has formulated the "four comprehensive" strategic layout of building a well-off society in an all-round way, comprehensively deepening reform, comprehensively administering the country by law, and strictly administering the party, with even more stringent logic. The Fifth Plenary Session of the 18th CPC Central Committee creatively used epistemology and methodology of Marxist science to comprehensively and systematically discuss the five major new concepts of development, solve the difficult problems in development and highlight the scientific nature of the leaders' administration of the state. In its development, China has always adhered to the socialist system, adhered to the theory of socialism with Chinese characteristics, adhered to the four cardinal principles, adhered to opening up to the outside world and adhered to the path of peaceful development.

The Construction of Socialism with Chinese Characteristics is the Basis of the "Chinese Proposal" Theory. Chinese program stems from the practical exploration of socialist construction in China. After more than sixty years of continuous exploration of the People's Republic of China and over 30 years of reform and opening up, we have continuously deepened our understanding of socialism with Chinese characteristics and at the same time, we have also proved to the world the correctness of the road to socialism with Chinese characteristics. China has shown the world the road to self-confidence in the socialist countries. China has continuously become the booster of the world economic recovery and has become the ballast and stabilizer for the sustainable development of the world economy. In the meantime, through its own development, China has made outstanding contributions to the cause of global poverty reduction and has become the backbone of international poverty reduction so as to help more developing countries to lift themselves out of poverty. China has been exploring its own course in practice, has made remarkable achievements in the world and made its contribution to the world. Chinese experience and deep integration with the world, the China program is merging the "China Dream" and the "World Dream" and practicing the exploration of the beautiful society system while fulfilling the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation.

The "Chinese Program" of the Internal Structure and Theoretical Structure

The General Task is to Realize the Socialist Modernization and the Great Rejuvenation of the Chinese Nation. As early as the 16th CPC Congress put forward "Realizing the promotion of modernization" and "realizing the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation on the road to socialism with Chinese characteristics." After the 18th CPC Congress was held, General Secretary Xi Jinping explicitly stated that "the overall task is to achieve Socialist modernization and the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation." The CPC's understanding of "general tasks" has been deepened and enriched the value of "China's program". The "General Task" is the unswerving pursuit and lofty mission of the "China Program" and the "China Program" provides the theoretical guidance and practical thrust for the early realization of the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation.

The Overall Layout is the Five in One. The 18th National Congress of the Communist Party of China and the CPC have put forward the strategic goal of "vigorously promoting the building of an ecological civilization" in the light of the concrete reality of economic and social development and established the socialist economic construction, political construction, cultural construction, social construction and ecological construction with Chinese characteristics. Five in One "total layout. The transformation of the times and the future direction of "general layout" profoundly illustrate that the choice and development of "China's proposals" are not imaginary but historical, concrete and conditional bases on the requirements of continuous development and socialist construction. To be rich. The "general layout" embodies the political wisdom of the Communist Party of China that it has reached a new height and a new level in its overall strategic understanding of socialism with Chinese characteristics and demonstrated that the Chinese Communist Party can handle the whole and part, the global and the local relations correctly.

The Overall Strategic Layout is Four Comprehensive. Each aspect of the "four comprehensive" strategic layout emphasizes "comprehensiveness" with both goals and measures, both overall and focused. To fully build a well-to-do society is reflected in that the people, regions and fields covered are all-inclusive and well-off people without a "straggler". In deepening the reform in an all-round way, they are persisting in systematic thinking and fully considering economic, political, cultural, social and ecological. The reform of the field of relevance, coupling, and co-ordination; a comprehensive rule of law, reflected in the principle of governing the country according to law, according to law jointly promote the rule of law and society, to achieve scientific and legislative, strict law enforcement, fair Justice and the whole people abide by the law; to administer the party strictly in an all-round manner and in the overall planning of party members and the party in strict compliance with the principle of treating the symptoms and taking root in the root cause and taking the self-discipline and self-discipline into consideration, and proposing a series of measures to strictly manage cadres and perfect rules and regulations. The "four comprehensive" strategic layout reflects the grand idea of the party's overall development of the cause of socialism with Chinese characteristics by grasping the major contradictions[1].

System Content Constitutes a Program System. The 18th CPC National Congress further refined and summarized specific plans and demanded economic transformation of the mode of economic development, upholding the new industrialization, information, urbanization and agricultural modernization with Chinese characteristics, deepening the reform of the market economy system and the transformation of government functions, and insisting on common prosperity China's economic construction plan "; in politics, it upholds the party's leadership, people are the masters of the country, and" Chinese political construction program "of governing the unity within the country, strengthening the party's scientific and scientific standards, improving people's democracy and improving the legal system; Culturally, we should strengthen the innovation of science and technology, adhere to the "Chinese culture construction plan" featuring independent innovation with Chinese characteristics, strengthening the national cultural soft power and deepening the publicity and education of core values. In terms of ecology, protecting the environment and conserving resources, we will continue to explore production and development, affluent life and ecology Good "Chinese ecological construction program"; party building, to strengthen anti-corruption education and clean culture, adhere to the "Chinese party building program" of combating corruption and promoting integrity with Chinese characteristics; on the foreign relations, resolutely pursue an independent foreign policy of peace, and take peaceful development Road, "Chinese foreign-building program[2]."

The Value of the Times in "Chinese Program"

The Theoretical Value of "Chinese Program". "Chinese program" is a major theoretical result of the localization of Marxism. Since the 18th CPC National Congress, the Central Party Central Committee with Comrade Xi Jinping as the core has made a series of major strategic initiatives, guidelines and policies promulgated in the areas of stable reform and development, national and foreign diplomatic defense and governing the party and the state by law. This shows the superiority of socialism with Chinese characteristics. However, the new theories created by combining Marxism with the national conditions of China and with the characteristics of the times are even more significant achievements in the localization, modernization and popularization of Marxism.
Chinese program is a major theoretical achievement in exploring the development of human society. The Chinese proposal that building a "community of human destiny" and establishing a global governance system for building and sharing a common business and development will not only provide a powerful engine for the steady growth of the world economy, open the door for development to a group of developing countries, and promote the establishment of a just and reasonable international order, promote the development of human civilization. At the same time, as for late-developing countries that are more tortuous in their modernization path, it is an endogenous institutional path to completely copy the Western model and often fall into the mire of "the modern trap." In the process of socialist modernization with Chinese characteristics, the Chinese program combines the value of the modernity with the traditional Chinese history and culture and with the real economic, political and social conditions, providing the world, especially the latecomers, with a philosophical and methodological reference.

The Practical Value of "Chinese Solution". To provide Chinese wisdom for global governance. Today's world is an interconnection world. Solving the common problems facing mankind requires the cooperation of all nations. The CPC has put forward a series of China's proposals and China's proposals around what kind of global governance the world needs, who it manages and how to promote such major issues as the reform and construction of global governance. First, China maintains that the fate of the world should be jointly owned by all nations and advocates that all countries work together to build a new type of international relations based on mutual respect, fairness and justice, and win-win cooperation to jointly build a community of human destiny. The second is to improve the institutional mechanisms for global governance. China initiated the establishment of the Asian Infrastructure Investment Bank, the BRICS New Silk Road Fund, the South-South Cooperation Assistance Fund and the International Development Knowledge Center, and promoted the "Belt and Road Initiative" and enriched Institutional mechanisms for global governance[3]. Third, we must earnestly pay attention to the major topics of global governance and put forward China's understanding and solutions. We have formed a global governance system that consists of various levels of economic, political, cultural, social, environmental and security issues and various aspects.

Bring opportunities for the progress of international political civilization. The China program of global governance has demonstrated the style and charm of the diplomacy of big powers with Chinese characteristics and promoted the innovation and development of international political civilization and diplomatic civilization. One is to give new values to international relations and global governance. The values of peace, development, cooperation and win as elevated by the China program are in harmony with the spirit of the Five Principles of Peaceful Coexistence and bring about opportunities for the progress of international political civilization. The second is to make overall consideration of the national governance system and the global governance system. The Chinese proposal respects the right of peoples to choose their own path of development, upholds international fairness and justice, opposes imposing their own will on others, opposes interfering in other countries' internal affairs and opposes bullying. Third, promote regional cooperation in interconnection and exchange. China put forward the "Belt and Road Initiative," which seeks to reduce all kinds of obstacles in regional cooperation and promote more pragmatic interconnection.

Provide new impetus for the common development of all countries. The Chinese proposal of global governance demonstrates Chinese position and pushes people to think about the direction of the development of human political civilization. This is of far-reaching significance. First, promote the building of a new type of international relations by peaceful means. While respecting the existing rules of international governance, Chinese reform plan on a global governance system has actively created new governance mechanisms that have an important gain effect on global governance and contributed to the Chinese efforts to maintain the stability of the international system. The second is to provide a new choice of development path. The solution of peace deficits, the development of deficits and the governance of deficits and other world issues require effective action and new theoretical knowledge as a guide.
The Chinese program of global governance constitutes a set of governing systems with Chinese characteristics and world significance. It is formed by China on the basis of long-term exploration and settlement of its own development problems and the common problems the world faces, and has a reference to global governance and the handling of the relations between the two countries at home and abroad value.
